

Copley Service Center

Complete Source for Boiler Tubing

To help us deliver on our continued commitment to the boiler and power plant aftermarket, The Babcock & Wilcox Company (B&W) owns and operates a 30,000 square foot tube storage facility in Copley, Ohio. Here, our extensive tubing supply capabilities translate to lower costs, reduced lead times and quality boiler tubes for our customers. Enhancing the service offerings, B&W's modern facility also includes tube fabrication and swaging capabilities.

B&W carries an expanded tube inventory that includes a wide range of materials, grades, sizes and quantities. All tubing meets the highest quality standards that are synonymous with the Babcock & Wilcox name. Tubes are stored indoors on racks in a temperature-controlled environment. A state-of-the-art handling system facilitates on-time shipment and delivery so customers get their tubes when they need them.

B&W's dedicated team not only manages the inventory, they also perform custom cutting, bending swaging and welding of attachments. All jobs are marked properly and shipped promptly anywhere in the world.

Our friendly, knowledgeable specialists can match your inquiry to our inventory, or locate tubes from other key strategic suppliers. Our global parts experts can also provide approved tube material substitutions
